Esquire Innovations, Inc. Previewing Version 7 of iDocID at ILTA'08

Temecula, CA. August 22, 2008 – Esquire Innovations, Inc. today announced they will be previewing the new version of iDocID at the International Legal Technology Association Annual conference August 25-28, 2008. iDocID automates the insertion of a document ID into a document footer. “Leveraging Microsoft’s new ribbon technology in Office 2007, iDocID 7 presents a custom ribbon for easy access,” according to Susan McClellan, Marketing and Operations Manager at Esquire Innovations.

Centralized administration, multi-document management system integration, flexibility

iDocID 7 provides centralized administration for establishing the default behavior of a document ID, with options that include placement (all pages, first page, second and beyond and last page), format, elements, document type and a default document ID on all documents according to a firm’s specifications. The software does not overwrite existing footer information and existing Document ID codes can be automatically eliminated upon File|Open.

With the ability to work out-of-the-box with a legal firm’s document management system (including Open Text, Interwoven, WORLDOX, Net Documents and native Word) and different document types, iDocID 7 provides functionality and flexibility.

All new versions for Office 2007

Along with iDocID 7; the company is also previewing at the ILTA show new versions of: iCreate, a template and document production application; iScrub, a metadata management solution for Microsoft Office documents; and iRedline, an enhanced Word comparison application; This new generation of products will be available as the combined package iOffice System 7.
