Esquire Innovations Introduces New Training and “Client Experience” Program
Vice President of Client Experiences to lead client-focused initiative

Temecula, CA – February 6th, 2006 - Esquire Innovations, Inc. (Esquire), a leading provider of Microsoft Office integration software services and applications for the legal market, today announced its “Esquire Client Experience Program”, a series of new client-focused initiatives and training courses developed to further enhance clients’ product knowledge and internal Esquire expertise. Judge Carter Reynolds, Esquire’s Vice President of Client Experiences, will lead the program and act as the primary training liaison between clients and the company.

Esquire Innovations, which has been developing document creation, formatting, re-purposing, comparing, and metadata management software applications for the legal industry since 1999, has prioritized client training, technical support, and software adoption among its user community.

Judge Carter Reynolds has 25 years experience in various training roles spanning customer training, technical support and software implementation services for large law firms. Over the years of developing close client relationships, she has recognized that users are ready to take the next step with Esquire’s document production tools such as the flagships iCreate and iScrub. “We wanted to create more value and really give our clients the opportunity to reap all the benefits our products afford. It is in our collective best interest to have clients who are Esquire product experts and evangelists for their firms. Therefore, educating our clients is a top priority.”

Highlights of Esquire Innovations’ 2006 training program include:

- Monthly web-based training classes (called “webettes”) geared toward a variety of product features and “how to” topics including dedicated training and “tips and tricks” content on Esquire’s newly revamped website;

- Training and product update newsletters also designed to educate and further train Esquire users on the latest document production tools;
- Constant Esquire feedback loop enabling client input and direction regarding product enhancements and new functionality.
